Royston Greenwood, University of Alberta, highlights OMT PDW's in Anaheim for us.

For the 2008 Academy of Management Conference, OMT has assembled an exciting array of sessions that includes the annual OMT/MOC Doctoral Consortium (for doctoral students at the dissertation writing stage), the annual Junior Faculty Workshop (for faculty at the early stages of their career) and the OMT Dissertation Proposal Workshop (for mid-career doctoral students). In addition, there are several PDWs geared to the Conference's overall theme of "The Questions We Ask". These include: "The Questions We Ask & the Theories and Methods We Use to Study Competitive Advantage", "Industry Architecture Dynamics", "New Questions for Changing Economies", "Who Are We Reaching?", and "Contextualization, Integration and Potential Contributions of China Management Research". In total, OMT is involved in 44 PDWs, 15 as lead sponsor/organizer. The full program is given below.

Several PDWs (including the Doctoral and Junior Faculty) require pre-registration, which can be done via https://secure.aomonline.org/PDWRReg/logon.asp.

Royston Greenwood
University of Alberta