

Doctoral Student Consortium

Written by Mark Ebers

Thursday, 08 July 2010 08:54 - Last Updated Saturday, 01 August 2015 16:03

2015 OMT Doctoral Student Consortium
Academy of Management Annual Meeting
Vancouver, Canada
August 7, 2015

Call for Applications

Revised Deadline: April 30, 2015

We are pleased to announce that the Organization and Management Theory (OMT) division will once again hold a Doctoral Student Consortium as part of the pre-conference activities at the Academy of Management Annual Meeting. Designed just for OMT members, the goal of this consortium is to help doctoral students who are broadly interested in organizations and management as they enter the final phase of their doctoral programs and prepare for the job market and future careers. We aim to help you make the most of your doctoral program, advance your research, consider how best to publish your research, find a job in the academic or professional world, and, perhaps most importantly, establish professional networks with colleagues who share similar research interests.

The consortium will include a variety of panel presentations, interactive discussion sessions, and workshops aimed at these goals. It has been designed to allow for high levels of interaction between faculty and students. In order to maintain a high faculty/student ratio, space for this consortium is strictly limited, and interested students must be nominated by their schools and must be OMT members (either already or by joining now). Faculty participants include:

- Philip Anderson, INSEAD
- Eva Boxenbaum, Copenhagen Business School
- Eugenia Cacciatori, Cass Business School
- Rich DeJordy, Northeastern University
- Russel Funk, University of Minnesota
- Raghu Garud, Penn State University

Doctoral Student Consortium

Written by Mark Ebers

Thursday, 08 July 2010 08:54 - Last Updated Saturday, 01 August 2015 16:03

- Olga Khessina, Cornell University
- Joseph Lampel, Manchester Business School
- Alessandro Lomi, Swiss University Lugano
- Mark Mizruchi, University of Michigan
- Kamal Munir, Cambridge University
- David Obstfeld, California State University, Fullerton
- Amalya Oliver-Lumerman, Hebrew University
- Damon Phillips, Columbia University
- Violina Rindova, University of Texas
- Martin Ruef, Duke University
- Oliver Schilke, University of Arizona
- Andreas Schwab, Iowa State University
- Wendy Smith, University of Delaware
- Maxim Sytch, University of Michigan
- Eero Vaara, Hanken School of Economics
- Ed Zajac, Northwestern University
- Tamar Zilber, Hebrew University

Due to space constraints, doctoral programs should nominate one applicant. Universities with multiple departments seeking to send students need to coordinate their nominations. Preference will be given to those students who have progressed to the dissertation stage and are either on the job market or considering being on the job market in the coming year. The deadline for nominations is April 30, 2014.

Applications should be e-mailed by the department representative who nominates the student to the two consortium organizers listed below. It should include the following in the body of the e-mail:

- the nominee's name, address, e-mail address, phone and fax numbers,
- name of affiliated school and university,
- confirmation that the student is a member of the OMT division, and
- a statement from the department certifying the nominee's completion of doctoral coursework and comprehensive exams (or equivalent) by August 1, 2015.

Three supporting items should be attached to the e-mail:

1. a brief letter from a faculty member providing a general appraisal of the nominee,

Doctoral Student Consortium

Written by Mark Ebers

Thursday, 08 July 2010 08:54 - Last Updated Saturday, 01 August 2015 16:03

including an assessment of his/her progress toward a dissertation defense, expected defense date, and subject of dissertation;

2. a 1 page bio summarizing the nominee's contact information, research and teaching interests, and publications; and/or working papers.

3. a 3-5 page summary of the student's research project on which they would like to receive feedback.

Students selected to attend the Consortium will be sent a registration code that will allow them to register online.

Additional information about the OMT Doctoral Consortium will be available on the OMT website.

If you have questions or concerns, feel free to contact the OMT Doctoral Consortium organizers Mark Ebers -- ebbers@wiso.uni-koeln.de or Patricia Thornton -- thornton@duke.edu .

N.B. Please note that the Consortium begins with an opening dinner on the evening of August 6 and ends at 5:30 pm on August 7, 2015.

We look forward to seeing you in Vancouver!

2015 Doctoral Consortium Sponsors:

Doctoral Student Consortium

Written by Mark Ebers

Thursday, 08 July 2010 08:54 - Last Updated Saturday, 01 August 2015 16:03

